

ABSTRACT

A method for characterizing the three-dimensional surface
5 structure of molecules, particularly proteins and protein complexes, employing mass spectrometric analysis, an electrospray ionization (ES) source, a novel data interpretation process that utilizes comparisons of particular binding constants (K_b) and heats of formation (ΔH_f), and computational feedback modeling.

10

09287307-040799